SHOT HIS SWEETHEART.
A Double Tragedy at Louisville of a Sensational Nature.

"Kiss me, Annie, just once before we die."
So spoke blood stained Peter McCrory as he leaned over the prostrate form of Annie Stakes. But the terribly wounded girl shook her head and tried to drag herself away from the man who had just attempted murder and suicide. Then the police came in, and after seeing Annie to the hospital took Peter to jail.

In its details the tragedy is one of the most sensational that has startled the city of Louisville for some time. Both the principal were young people, and some months ago became engaged. The girl recalled her promise, and the man swore that she should marry no one else. The other evening he called at her house, and almost without warning drew a pistol and began to fire. The first bullet struck Miss Stakes' face an inch below the right eye, playing its way through the head and coming out behind the ear.

Seeing that the result was not immediate death McCrory fired a second time, but the bullet flew wide and buried itself in the opposite wall. The assassin then turned the pistol on himself. One ball struck the skull, but glanced off, leaving only a scalp wound. Another grazed the neck and tore off the upper lip. When the neighbors and officers broke in they found the room literally dripping with blood.

Miss Stakes is 24 years old and quite pretty. McCrory is 24. Speaking of the affair while his wounds were being dressed he said:

"Annie ought to have loved me, but she didn't. She once promised to be my wife, and when she came down I made up my mind that she should never marry any one else.

When I kept away from her I didn't think I loved her, but the moment I came to her presence I lost my senses. She was so beautiful that I could not stand seeing any one else in the place that was mine. If she gets well I will kill myself, and if she dies I suppose I will be hanged. It makes no difference to me, but if she gets well I hope that she will marry me, for I am sure she will."

A FATAL ENCOUNTER.
The iron molders' strike at San Francisco culminated the other evening in a tragedy.
When the trouble between manufacturers and employees began some time ago Walder Ridout, a unionist, secured a position with the City Iron works. He refused to listen to the appeals of the molders, and finally, it is said, was threatened with violence. At any rate, while riding in a cable car on Powell street he got into an altercation
with a unionist,
named Henry A.
Sivert. Blows
were exchanged as well as epithets, and then the panic-stricken passengers heard a pistol shot and saw Sivert fall mortally wounded. Ridout surrendered to the police. He claimed that he had been assaulted, and that he fired in self defense.
However, when he was brought before the dying man the latter made oath as follows:

"Realizing that I am about to die I make this my dying statement. My name is Henry A. Sivert. I got on the car, and he (naming Ridout) began to shake his pistol in my pocket. I said nothing to him.
He put on a terrible look. He shot through his coat, I said, 'Don't shoot. I am with you to prevent his shooting.' I was never acquainted with him. I knew him by sight and knew where he worked. I have nothing more to say. This is the man that shot me. I am positive that is the

The Beauty Contest at Vienna.
Fair faced young women who with a free trip to Europe now have the opportunity of their lives. An international beauty contest is to be held at Vienna, the capital of Austria, and the following directions are sent out for the information of those desiring to compete. All competitors must send photographs with their addresses, to the committee. Those who are admitted must attend in evening dress or costumes representative of the country from which they came. The committee states that should the competitors desire it traveling expenses and the cost of living for five days will be paid out of the funds at the disposal of the managers. Each lady who is in the competition will receive a service of the occasion. The total sum to be awarded to the winner is $1,000.

Two Brothers Drowned.
Such is brief the sad story of Deane and Fields Dickinson, two bright lads, aged 18 and 19 years respectively. They were the sons of R. B. Dickinson, a wealthy resident of Deane, and the other afternoon went swimming in the shallow waters of the back bay, a short distance from the Star Island house, at the St. Clair pier.

A stiff breeze prevailed and there was a choppy sea. The waves swept Fields behind his depth. Deane bravely went to rescue his brother, but without avail, and after struggling for some minutes both went down.

The bodies were recovered some distance from the pier and were brought ashore.
Two other little swimmers who were in peril at the same time received assistance and escaped. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson have lost one surviving child, a daughter, 4 years old.

Poisonous Effect of Coffee.
Dr. Edward Smith, of England, made a decoction of four ounces of coffee which he and his assistant drank together. In fifteen minutes they fell upon the floor unconscious and remained so for thirty minutes. Probably if either had had constitutional weakness of the heart the dose would have been fatal.

Scotch Character.
At a Scotch fair a farmer was trying to engage a lad to assist on the farm, but would not finish the bargain until he brought a character from the last place, so he said, "Run and get it, and meet me at the cross at 4 o'clock." The youth was up to time, and the farmer said, "Well, have you got your character with you?" "Na," replied the youth, "but I've got some and I'll be there."

ART WORK IN BUILDING.

CONVENTIONAL IDEAS DISREGARDED
BY THE ARCHITECTS.

A Newark Church That Would Attract Attention Anywhere Because of Its External and Internal Novelty—A Short Sketch of the Design.

The Peddie Memorial Baptist church in Newark is the most recent and most notable example of ecclesiastical architecture in the metropolis of New Jersey.
It is situated on Broad street, in the very heart of the city, and the pleasing and impressive mass would attract attention anywhere, though it is doubtful whether an uninformed passer-by would guess that it was a building erected for religious worship. The architect, Mr.
William Halsey Wood, has not been restrained by the conventional rules of ecclesiastical architecture, and the only suggestion in the exterior of the building of the purpose of the structure is in the pointed towers, one taller than the other, and with clustered spires.

The predominant idea of the whole is Romanesque, though the dome is Byzantine, and the short, thick columns of the loggia and the loggia itself are early Italian. The arches are Romanesque, as also the belt of sculpture which encircles the upper story of the two principal fronts. On the apex of the dome is a figure representing an angel with a trumpet. This figure has excited a deal of local criticism. The loggia, through which are the main entrances to the church, opens upon a vestibule sheltered by swing doors of oak; the inner doors of the vestibule and the partition separating it from the auditorium are of heavy plate glass, through which those arriving have a complete view of the interior before entering.

THE INTERIOR.
The general effect of the interior of the building is as novel in a church as the exterior, and it is equally agreeable. Low galleries sweep around the greater part of a circle, and there is no chancel. The predominant tone of color is that of old gold, with deeper shades of reddish brown and amber. The woodwork, with the exception of the pews, which are of sycamore, is of North Carolina pine, somewhat darkened by oil. The wood of the inner dome is unplanned, with the intention of assisting the acoustic qualities of the auditorium.

The few wall spaces are of marble and stone in warm colors. The pulpit, which is rather low on the floor, is almost directly beneath the great skylight in the eye of the dome. Behind the pulpit is the baptistery, a somewhat narrow structure, the floor of which is higher than the platform of the pulpit. In the rear of this is a decorated screen of cherry wood and hard pine, which rises perpendicularly and cuts off the rear portion of the dome. Behind this screen are the Sunday school rooms, three stories in height and with an entrance from the street.

There are six stained glass windows in the front of the church, four of them being memorials of deceased members of the congregation. Four windows on the north front are occupied with one continuous composition representing the baptism of Christ. A landscape and river scene stretches through the four windows, and the figures of the composition occupy the two central windows.

NOVELTY IN DECORATION.
In the semi-circular recess in the northwest angle of the church on the second floor are three memorial windows and two tablets fixed into the walls. These are commemorative of the life and services of the late Henry Clay Fish, for many years pastor of the church. This recess opens into the auditorium through a noble arch, and affords a retiring room or place for social greeting for the congregation. An impressive and beautiful effect of the interior is a vast arch that spans the perpendicular screen in the rear of the pulpit platform, springing from either side of the building and reaching into the dome above. This arch is enriched with tracery of a Moorish quality, and bears on its face in illuminated letters the words, "These stones shall be his memorial."

Opposite this and spanning the recessed bay of the second or gallery floor, in which are the windows on the front, is another fine arch; this is supported on either side by large, delicately carved columns, the work on which is of remarkable beauty. To the left of this arch, as one faces the pulpit, is a small balcony in the wall, the entrance to which is from the pastor's study in the north tower. From here is obtained the best view of the interior of the edifice, the details of the elaborate architecture being fused into harmony, while the middle leader from the great yellow skylight above falls down in a flood of softened color. On either side of the church, at the bases of the memorial arch, rise the clustered piers of the two organs.

This church was the gift of the late Mr. Peddie to the First Baptist congregation, of which he was long time a member. Mr. Peddie came from Scotland to Newark when a young man. He began his career in Newark as a journeyman trunkmaker. Beginning the manufacture of trunks and bags in a small way, his business grew with the years, and he became a very rich man.
The church is the monument he chose for himself. —Harper's Weekly.

Two Proscriptions.
A correspondent asks for a reliable remedy for dandruff. In the case of a brown faced the usual in two days the dandruff was gone. In the case of the yellow faced the dandruff was gone in two days.

A little girl who had been told that she might have dandruff being quarrelsome and going to bed in the daytime replied, "Dandruff is a bad speaking is wrong."

Diminishing Increasing in Value.
Diamonds are nearly a third dearer than they were a year ago," says a Boston dealer, "and if this indication can be relied upon they are going still higher.
I have been in the trade for a good many years and have handled three or four hundred of the 'spots,' but during all my experience I have never known a time when diamonds were in greater favor than now. It seems as if everybody has a penchant for them. Why, I know a hundred young men in town whose salaries are not over $10 a week who wear stones averaging in cost all the way from $20 to $50. They buy them on the installment plan." —Boston Herald.

The Color of Front.
The color of a front's back depends on the color of the bottom of the river, but the front which grew rapidly differ greatly in spots and color from those which grew slowly and thrive badly, and a middle aged trout differs in color from an aged trout. Speaking generally, the young, healthy, fast growing fish will have silvery sides, white belly and plenty of well defined spots. The poorly fed fish will have few or no spots, a drab belly and muddy yellow sides. The old trout will be much the same in appearance, only more so, and will be particularly lank and large-headed. This accounts for those trout which have access to salt water being brighter and more beautiful than others which do not. The variety and abundance of their food make them so. —American Angler.

Salary of a Dancer.
Miss Merante never wears in speaking of the wonderful dances at the opera, but space fails me for all her interesting remarks.
It is rather curious to know what value is put upon this hard work, what a danseuse is supposed to be worth.
These who dance in the quadrilles gain from $20 to $30 a month, the corymbes receive from $40 to $50, the ondes from $60 to $80 each month and the stars from $1,000 to $15,000 and sometimes more.
Roati received $12,000 and Fanny Elisler about $9,000, but Mari and Suhra are paid respectively not more than $7,000. —Baroness Athina Salvador's Letter.

The Ferro-Manganese Water.
"For disorder, menstruation, anaemia, and sterility it may properly be termed a specific." —From Dr. W. F. Mason's report on this famous water of Execlior Springs, Mo. 25 cts per quart.

Barometer.
Pedestrians with an insensitive turn of mind have carried barometers for some time past. The individual who owns an umbrella cannot furnish with a pocket barometer. The tourist can across the first man to his house who carried a pocket barometer. The gentleman was a "commercial tourist." He took the barometer, which, by the way, was attached to a Dickens chain—from his pocket, commented it and said: "Well, guess I'll take my umbrella today." Pocket barometers are carried in Ireland. —Albany Journal.

The Reward of Politeness.
Office Boy (to busy merchantfriend of your father wishes to see you, sir.
Busy Merchant—Tell him my father lives at Kalumnae, and I'm sorry.
Friend of the Father (after message is delivered)—Very well; I'll place my ten thousand dollar order for goods elsewhere.—Pack.

A Hamilton Feast.
In the Island of Hamilton the church festivals are a sort of religious junket-ing, to which people flock from long distances with provisions and bedding.
They camp out in the open or sleep in caves or under their
